Dear

STAT

Thank you for your paper on the

STAT

 My time constraints are such that I have had time to review it only briefly, and I have passed it on to other elements of the community for their possible interest. I will be in touch with you should I receive any positive feedback.

I remain intrigued by your methodology, although it appears to me that the greatest potential application should lie in the net assessment arena, as well as in war games and other simulation exercises in our service schools and colleges. Indeed, your approach to this subject could conceivably be of interest to General DePuy of Training and Doctrine Command.

Best wishes for success.

Sincerely,

/s/ Samuel V. Wilson
